

Programming languages answers

02.1 – answer C – only two of the examples are low level

02.2 Maximum four marks from:

- High-level languages have built-in functions;
- High-level languages have built-in libraries;
- High-level languages have more support/help;
- High-level languages have structures (such as selection and iteration);
- High-level languages can be less machine dependent/more portable;
- It (usually) requires fewer lines of code to be written;
- It is (usually) quicker to develop code in high-level languages;
- It is easier to find mistakes in code;
- The code is easier to maintain//understand;
- It is easier to structure code in high-level languages;

02.3

A = Compiler

B = Assembler