Searching on the internet

You can find answers for all sorts of questions using the internet

To do this, you usually have to search
Searching on the internet

You access the internet using a web browser
You search using a search engine

This produces a set of results

Searching on the internet

How reliable is this answer?

Web Browser: the app you use to look at the internet with

Search Engine: the website you use to search the internet with

Web Browser: the app you use to look at the internet with

Search Engine: the website you use to search the internet with

Searching on the internet

How do you know that the answer is reliable?

Can you think of examples of questions where the answer might not be 100% reliable?